

Power Analysis Reflections

Where are you most privileged?

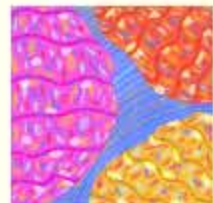

Which position surprised you the most, and why?

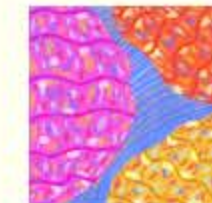

Whose support will you need to do it properly?

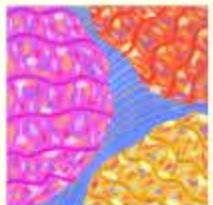

Where are you most marginalised?

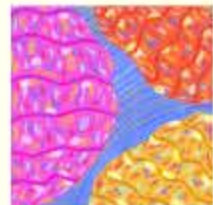

Which element is the most exciting area for you to engage? Why?

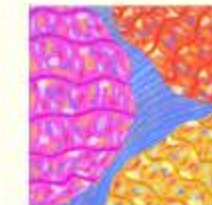

Which areas of the power analysis were completely new to you, and what does that show you about power?

Where are you in the middle?

Which will involve the most unlearning and relearning?

How does all of this make you feel about the potential changes ahead?
